IS IT MORE VIRULENT?

Sudden Increase In Yellow Fever Fatalities.

NINE VICTIMS IN ONE DAY.

The Situation Becomes More Serious at New Orleans—Board of Health Consider the Matter—No Deaths at Mobile.

Mobile, Oct. 14.—Seven new cases in the city proper and six brought into the city from Magazine Point, three miles out, make up the record of the day. Eight recoveries are reported, and no deaths for the past 24 hours. Total cases to date 142; deaths, 20; recoveries, 80; remaining under treatment, 42.

New cases, Joseph Edmundson Mrs. R. E. Mehler, Ambrose Lew Sylvester Aggie, Frank Lyon, S. J. Haly, Fuller Henderson.

The six cases from the steamship Kate, now in the city hospital, are: Lewis Utz, Joseph Muscat, Miacomo Regliori, Hanna Johnson, Hans Olsen, George Olsen.

Three more cases were reported on the steamer but they are convalescent and are declared to have had yellow fever. The crew will be placed in a house across the river, and the steamer will be fumigated. There has been much malarial fever on the port since she came into port.

R. C. Settles, superintendent of the Wagar Lumber company at Wagar, Ala., died there of yellow fever.

One new case has developed. Settles was from Ohio and had been some time. Recently he and his wife paid a visit to their home, but he returned alone when the yellow fever was announced in the south leaving his wife behind him.

NINE DEATHS

Are Reported at New Orleans in One Day.

New Orleans, Oct. 14.—It was the record smasher in the number of deaths in a single day from yellow fever since the sickness was first reported in New Orleans.

It is difficult to find the cause, except the fact that concealment, neglect and rebellion against the authority of the board of health have made it difficult for the physicians to give proper attention to cases.

At 7 p. m. there had been nine fatalities reported during the 24 hours. Heretofore, the highest number of deaths in one day has been six.

At the board of health there was some discussion among the physicians as to whether the disease has assumed suddenly a more virulent form or whether an aggregation of circumstances had sent up the list of deaths.

Prominent doctors say they do not believe the disease has become more malignant in type. They believe that the fact that on some days there has been four or five deaths, on succeeding days no deaths, and then four or five again, goes to prove that the fever has been accidental before as it is now.

Among the deaths reported some are of the better class of people. Edward C. Ray, 16, lived with his mother, who kept a fashionable boarding house on Pryor street.

Another death was that of Antonio Corvajo, the agent of a steamship line running between this port and Palermo. He was a native of Italy, and since the fever appeared has been active among his countrymen. On the 10th of the month Dr. Formanti was called to see him. He had then been sick for three days.

Two deaths occurred in the Touris infirmary. The cases had not originated in the institution, but had been removed thither from other places in the city. A death was also reported in the isolation hospital.

No New Cases.

Houston, Oct. 14.—There were no further developments in the fever situation here. There were no new cases and the old ones were getting along well.

Pleaded Not Guilty.

New York, Oct. 14.—Edward G. Bingham, a prominent merchant of St. Louis, who was arrested in company with Richard M. Scruggs, in May last on a charge of attempting to smuggle a large amount of jewelry into this country, was represented by counsel when his case was called in the criminal branch of the United States circuit court. A plea of not guilty was entered and the case was set down for trial on the 22d inst. The grand jury, it was said, had presented no indictment against Scruggs.

The Lutheran Council.

Erie, Pa., Oct. 14.—The general council of the Evangelical Lutheran church in North America began its twenty-sixth convention, which will continue until October 21. The general council is a delegate body composed of eight district synods, which cover the entire country and comprise a membership of nearly 400,000, served by 1,200 pastors. Each synod is entitled to one clerk and one lay delegate for each 10,000 members and congregations on their roll. The general body is, therefore, not so large, but quite select.

Meeting of Coursing Club. Davenport, Ia., Oct. 14.—Coursing men from all over the country are here for the American Waterloo cup meeting. The entry is limited to 32 grey hounds of all ages, at $25 each, with $500 added. This is the American Coursing club's twelfth annual meeting.

ANNUAL MEETING.

Financial Condition of the Western Union Telegraph Company.

New York, Oct. 14.—The annual meeting of the Western Union Telegraph company resulted in the re-election of the old board of directors, with one exception, the election of Jacob H. Schiff to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of John Van Horne, one of the vice presidents of the company.

The report of President Eckert gives the amount of the capital stock outstanding as $97,370,000, of which $29,850,355 belongs to and is in the treasury of the company.

The net revenue, expenses and profits for the year ending June 30, 1897, were as follows: Revenues, $22,638,859.16; expenses, $18,906,656.03. Deducting monies applied for dividends, interest on bonds and sinking fund appropriations, there is a surplus to June 30 of $7,647,541.06. The assets and liabilities are placed at $128,410,498.42 each.

An Interesting Controversy.

Tuscarora, Nev., Oct. 14.—Mining circles are greatly excited over a controversy now in progress at the property of the Dexter Mining company, involving the ownership of several thousand tons of valuable tailings running high in gold. The company has been using the property owned by Hugh Jones and Clarence Buck as a tailing pond. Jones and Buck now claim ownership to these tailings, and, being in possession, are guarding the mines with shotguns. A clash between the rival claimants is feared.

Anti-Allotment Leaders Present.

Chelsea, I. T., Oct. 14.—Upon the invitation of Chief Ispaschevich of the Creek nation a delegation of Cherokee fullbloods, among them Pasi Chief Swimmer, all prominent anti-allotment leaders, are now in attendance at the present session of the Creek council at Okmulgee. These Indians are strictly against any change in Indian Territory, judicial or otherwise. They have been invited to help resist the ratification of the Dawes-Creek treaty.

Strong Combination Formed.

Pittsburg, Oct. 14.—The organization of the greatest combination of windowglass manufacturers ever formed in this country was completed at Camden, N. J. It was named the American Window Glass company, and is composed of all the factories of the country except half a dozen small concerns. The capital stock of the company was fixed at $1,200,000, but the actual capital represented in the combination aggregates nearly $30,000,000.

Seventh Annual Convention.

Peoria Ill., Oct. 14.—The seventh annual convention of the Illinois Bankers' association began at the Grand Opera House in this city with a large attendance. It was opened with prayer by Dr. Samuel Henderson Moore, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, after which O. J. Bailey of Peoria delivered the address of welcome.

Very Good Showing.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 13.—C. J. Smith, receiver of the Oregon Improvement company, has filed his report for August, 1897, with the clerk of the federal court. The report shows: Gross earnings, $491,183.35; expenses, $317,472.85; net earnings, $173,710.50. This is a large increase over the net earnings of August, 1896, which were $60,762.23.

Temporary Injunction Dissolved.

Harrisburg, Oct. 14.—Judge Simonon handed down an opinion dissolving the temporary injunction against the capitol building commission in the equity proceedings brought by certain architects who competed for the prizes for making the best design for the proposed new capitol.

In the Race to Stay.

New York, Oct. 14.—Mr. Charles S. Fairchild said he had no intention of withdrawing from the Citizens' Union ticket for comptroller in favor of Mr. Dayton or anybody else. He said he is in the race to stay.

Jury Failed to Agree.

Glenville, W. Va., Oct. 14.—The jury in the Atkinson case failed to agree and was dismissed by the court. The vote stood seven for acquittal and five for conviction.

Humane Society Meets.

Nashville, Oct. 14.—The twenty-first annual meeting of the American Humane society is in session here.

Life Mule Won the Prize.

London, Oct. 14.—Mrs. "Jersey" (Mrs. Langtry) Merman won the cesarewitch stakes at Newmarket.

Adeline Patti Ill.

Paris, Oct. 14.—Adeline Patti, the famous singer, is ill. Her sickness is not believed to be dangerous.

THE EUROPEAN CROPS.

Monthly Report of Agricultural Department.

A DEFICIENCY IN CEREALS.

Extremely Pessimistic Accounts of the Failure in Russia Do Not Seem to Be Warranted by the Liberal Returns.

Washington, Oct. 14.—The monthly report of the agriculture department on the European crop situation, summarizing the reports of European correspondents to Statistician Hyde, was made public.

Recent information, while it may in some cases modify the crop estimates for particular countries, does not essentially change the situation as regards the deficiency in the principal cereal crops of Europe. The outlook for wheat in the Australian colonies continues good, but the prospects in Argentina are somewhat less bright, owing to drought and frosts.

Extremely pessimistic reports as to the extent of the crop failure in Russia have been circulated, but the liberal quantities coming forward for shipment have led dealers to receive such reports with incredulity.

It is probable, however, that much of the Russian grain going to western European markets is out of the more liberal harvests of former years, and there is evidence tending to show that the crop of 1897 is at any rate considerably below the average.

EMPIRE MADE KNOWN.

M. Maertens, a Russian Jurist, Will Serve on Venezuelan Boundary.

Washington, Oct. 14.—The international court of arbitration, which is to pass on the British-Venezuelan boundary, has been completed by the selection of M. Maertens, a distinguished Russian jurist, as umpire, and arrangements are being made for the assembling of court at Paris during the late summer or fall of next year. In the meantime the briefs of Great Britain and of Venezuela are being prepared, but none of the names have yet been submitted. M. Maertens will act not only as umpire, but also as president of the court.

The announcement that a European umpire had been chosen was made in these dispatches some time since, but the name had been withheld until the sanction of the czar could be secured for M. Maertens's service as arbitrator. Great Britain and Venezuela each submitted a list of distinguished jurists who would be acceptable to it as umpire. These embraced the most noted men of Europe, but it is a tribute to M. Maertens that his was the only one on the list of both countries.

M. Maertens's reputation as an authority on international law is worldwide, and has led to his frequent selection as arbitrator and umpire in international differences. He is an official of the Russian foreign office, professor of international law at the University of St. Petersburg, and author of Maertens's treatise, the standard book of reference on all treaties of the world. Little doubt is felt as to his acceptance.

Professor Maertens was one of the legates named by the Russian government to represent it at the approaching conference to be held in this city to consider the condition of seal life in the North Pacific. It is understood that his selection as the fifth arbitrator and head of the commission makes it impossible for him to participate in the Washington conference, so that the Russian interests in the meeting probably will remain in the care of Mr. Borkine, and the two delegates who will sit with him.

More Straws.

Washington, Oct. 14.—The belief that Justice Field is seriously contemplating early retirement from the supreme court bench was strengthened by the postponement of several more important cases until the first Monday in January. Among these were the suits involving the constitutionality of the anti-trust law of Texas, and several cases appealed from the court of private land claims dealing with Spanish land grants. The postponement in the Texas case was made upon the statement to the court by one of the attorneys that it involves a constitutional question rendering it desirable that it should be considered by a full bench.

Monetary Commission at Work.

Washington, Oct. 14.—The monetary commission devoted the session to the discussion of a preliminary report from the committee on banking systems. Commissioner Dean has returned to the city and attended the session. The commission is making satisfactory progress in its work and expects to be able to hold one or more sessions each day until November, with practically all of the members present.

Virginians Defeated.

Philadelphia, Oct. 14.—The University of Pennsylvania eleven defeated the University of Virginia football team in two halves of 25 and 20 minutes each, by the score of 42 to 0. The red and blue played a dashing game, their only fault being three fumbles in the first half and two in the second. Weeks and Portersue.

The Weather.

For Indiana Fair, with warm southerly winds, cooler.
For West Virginia Fair and warmer, southeasterly winds.
For Ohio Fair and warmer, probably showers, increasing southerly winds.

ATTORNEY PHALEN

Consumes the Entire Day in Defending Luetger Before the Jury.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—The entire day in the Luetger trial was taken up by Attorney Phalen, who spoke for the defense. He made an impassioned plea for his client, accused the police of intimidating the witnesses for the defense, and denounced many of those who had appeared for the state as perjurers.

He declared that the chain of circumstantial evidence, on which Assistant State's Attorney McEwen had dwelt at so great length during his address to the jury, was not a chain of circumstantial evidence at all, but a fragmentary collection of distorted facts.

He found flaws without number in the story furnished by the state and declared that no jury composed of sensible men would for a moment think of returning a verdict of guilty on such evidence.

He will continue to speak the greater part of another day, and will then be followed by Attorney Vincent for the defense, who will close the arguments in behalf of Luetger. State's Attorney Deen said that he would not consume over five hours in his closing address for the state on Saturday.

Adolph Luetger shed tears when, at the adjournment of court, he took leave of his little sons. Early in the day Luetger showed emotion and his eyes were moist as Attorney Phalen pleaded with the jury to spare his client's life. Luetger is breaking down.

The attorneys for the defense are inclined to sympathize with Luetger, and undertook to criticize Judge Tutbill for ordering the two small sons of the latter removed from the side of their father.

"It was an outrage," said ex-Judge Vincent. "It was unlawful, for I noted an exception to the act of the court, and also to the court's remarks."

Little Joker Identified.

Springfield, Oct. 14.—The horse called Little Joker, which won the 2:30 race at the fair here on Thursday, September 30, and which was protested against receiving first money by C. A. Wilson, driver of The Bishop, which finished second, has been identified as Tar Tartar, and expelled by the American Trotting association, together with his owner and driver, Norman T. Black, who went under the name of H. N. Phillips while racing here.

A vote for Hanna is a vote for the retirement of the greenbacks, and the destruction of the legal tender quality of our silver currency.

The silver forces of Ohio send greeting to the victorious silverites of Indianapolis, and promise to bring about a similar victory for the people in the Buckeye state elections next month. The silver wave is spreading and will continue until it envelops the whole land.

Hon. Arthur M. Sewall, of Maine, who was the Democratic candidate for vice-president last year, is reported to have said in Philadelphia on Friday: "There is certainly more business being done this year than last year, but I do not attribute it to politics. I imagine the condition of the crops in Europe would have been the same if Bryan had been elected."

There are no less than eight tickets provided for in the Australian ballot as approved by the Secretary of State in Ohio this year. Truly, the independent voter is abroad in the land! And out of the havoc to party machines implied by his outing may come a finer grade of electoral machinery, in which his influence will be more than ever a potential and a recognized factor.—Philadelphia Record.

Before the Dingley bill became a law you got twenty pounds of sugar for a dollar; now, under that law, you get sixteen pounds for a dollar. The extra cash goes to the sugar trust in repayment of the large amount contributed to the Republican campaign fund last year. In this way the Republican party compels every person who uses sugar to pay its campaign fund.

The New York Post, the staunchest of the Republican journals, warns the Hanna brawlers who are working the prosperity boom so tremendously just now of the dangers that this boom-erang argument may produce next year upon the congressional elections, when with good crops abroad the price of wheat declines, wool does not rise as it should, and there are strikes and men everywhere out of employment.

Governor Bushnell is trying to explain his awful blunder in the Urbana affair, but the more he attempts to explain, the worse light he appears in before the people. It seldom occurs that the chief executive of a state, when called upon in a supreme moment, so utterly fails to properly comprehend his duty as Bushnell did in that melancholy affair, and nothing he can now do or say will condone the offense.

COMPARE THESE FIGURES.

The deficiency in the United States Treasury for the last year of the Wilson tariff, ending June 30, 1897, was $18,052,254.

The deficiency in the United States Treasury for the first three months of the Dingley tariff, in this fiscal year, was 29,015,955.

Or at the rate for the current fiscal year of 116,063,820.

The deficiency for three months of the Dingley tariff exceeded the deficiency for twelve months of the Wilson tariff by 10,963,701.

Democrats should not underestimate the importance of the coming election, important not alone because of the weighty considerations involved in the present contest, but for the influential bearing upon future campaigns in the free silver cause. The price of land and its products and the wages of labor cannot permanently recover from the severe decline until the free coinage of silver is reinaugurated. Bearing directly on this all-important issue in this election is the selection of one of the state's U. S. Senators, and the next call will be for the election of a new House of Congress, and two years thereafter the great political upheaval in the selection of a president and house, and the final success in this momentous grand rally for the achievement of popular rights depends largely upon the showing at the intermediate crossing of swords at the polls. Every call to the ballot box should evoke the persevering zeal of the masses in the great cause, that the priceless goal of the equality in the coinage of silver and gold may be attained. Organize in every neighborhood so completely that the full free silver vote shall be cast on the 2nd day of November.

MARK NEEDS IT ALL HIMSELF.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer says: If the story published in New York is true, Boss Platt, of New York, has asked Mr. Hanna, as chairman of the Republican national committee, Mr. Hanna, as the special friend of president McKinley, and Mr. Hanna as a business Republican having a fat pocketbook of his own and a way of getting at the pocketbooks of other business Republicans, to "come down" liberally in aid of the Republican straight ticket in New York. The letter, if not written by Mr. Platt himself to Mr. Hanna, is represented as coming from the managers of the Republican campaign, which is equivalent to saying it was written at Boss Platt's dictation. It is admitted that it is not usual for national committees to contribute to a local campaign, but the plea is made that the situation in New York city is exceptional, and there is propriety, as well as necessity for the use of the national campaign funds in aid of Gen. Tracy, who stands on a platform which indorses McKinley's administration and the St. Louis platform, and the fight for him is made on national issues. A Republican victory would be a vindication of the Republican national administration and strengthen the party in next year's fight for congress; a Republican defeat would be a blow for the administration, and perhaps cause Republican loss of the next congress.

Now these doubts are arguments that appeal strongly to the national chairman, and the special backer of president McKinley, and the staunch "business Republican," but just now Mr. Hanna has troubles of his own and pressing need for all the cash that can be drawn from the national campaign treasury, fished out of his own pocket or squeezed out of "business men's organizations." What would it profit Mr. Hanna if Platt should win New York City for Tracy (and himself) and the Ohio legislature should be lost? Platt cannot help Hanna to the United States senatorship, and why should Hanna help Platt to seize on the spoils of New York City? A mayor's office cannot by any stretch of construction be made a national position, but a United States senatorship is another matter. Mr. Hanna would therefore be justified in refusing to contribute a dollar of national campaign funds towards the election of a Republican candidate for mayor of New York, though he should use no end of checks in providing for the seating of a Republican of his own build and weight for United States senator of Ohio.

It is not at all probable that Marcus the Fat will divide his purse with Mr. Platt. There was a big balance left out of last year's Republican corruption fund left in the hands of the national committee and Marcus believes he will need it all to secure his election to the senate. But he will spend it in vain, for when the money is all paid out Marcus will fall short of votes enough to elect him. The silver people are in the saddle this time and will win out.

THE PEOPLE PAY.

And the American Leather Trust Keeps a Rich Harvest.

The Chicago Shoe and Leather Review notes with surprise what it calls a peculiar condition in the hide market. "The packers are asking in some instances a half cent more than the price fixed by recent sales," observes this nonpartisan trade journal, and then it goes on to surmise as to causes, seemingly unmindful of the fact that the condition is entirely and directly due to the legislation of the last congress.

The Dingley bill imposes an ad valorem duty of 15 per cent upon hides. This duty practically shuts the doors of our market to the hides of South America, from which section large quantities have been imported to the United States. As long as the Dingley bill is law no hides from foreign countries can find their way to us. We are compelled to rely on our own resources for the raw material of leather.

There would be some possible justification for this narrowing of the market if any considerable number of the American people were to reap the benefits which the Dingleyites intended should come from a tariff of 15 per cent. But the only beneficiaries are those shrewd and wealthy individuals comprising the American Leather trust. This trust is controlled by the Armour and other heavy packers of Chicago. The concern was one of the largest contributors to the McKinley campaign fund. The cattle raiser gets no more for his stock because of the 15 per cent duty. The hide goes with the cow. But the American Leather trust, having stifled competition with the aid of the Republican party, can charge about what it pleases for its hides. Leather manufacturers don't mind the increased prices they have to pay because they can maintain their profits at the old standard by putting up the prices on their manufactures.

The people who buy boots and shoes and leather in its various other forms are the only sufferers. They are compelled to pay the Armour and other back the money contributed for McKinley's election with interest so large as will fill the coffers of the American Leather trust to repletion.—St. Louis Republic.

CRITICISM NOT ANARCHY.

Plank Is Democratic Platform Fully Justified by Members of the United States Supreme Court and Others.

"Then and there judicial baseness reached its lowest point," said Charles Sumner in speaking of a decision of the supreme court. He was not called an anarchist for making that statement, yet there are those who term the delegates who voted for the adoption of the Chicago platform anarchists. Their grievance is the plank relating to the supreme court, which is as follows:

"Until the money question is settled we are opposed to any further changes in our tariff laws, except such as are necessary to meet the deficit in revenue caused by the adverse decision of the supreme court on the income tax. But for the decision of the supreme court there would be no deficit in the revenue under the law passed by a Democratic congress in strict pursuance of the uniform decisions of that court for nearly 100 years, that court having in that decision sustained constitutional objections to its enactment which had previously been overruled by the ablest judges who have ever sat on that bench. We declare that it is the duty of congress to use all the constitutional power which remains after that decision, or which may come from its reversal by the court as it may hereafter be constituted, so that the burdens of taxation may be equally and impartially laid, to the end that wealth may bear its due proportion of the expenses of the government."

What is there of anarchy in that? Anarchy has been defined to be a state of society without any regular government and in which social and political confusion prevails. The delegates who have been denounced as anarchists were patriotic citizens who represented 45,000,000 out of the 71,000,000 of the population of the United States, and 42,000,000 out of the 62,000,000 real and personal property. Life and property find ample protection in the states from which they come, which would not be the case if they were anarchists. And so the charge really is that, having criticised a decision of the supreme court, the delegates thereby became anarchists. It is a novel idea that the supreme court may not be criticised. The severest critics of the supreme court sit upon its bench. Justice White said, in his dissenting opinion in the income tax cases:

"My inability to agree with the court in the conclusions which it has just expressed causes me much regret, great as is my respect for any view by it announced."

"I can not resist the conviction that its opinion and decree in this case virtually annuls its previous decisions in regard to the powers of congress on the subject of taxation, and is, therefore, fraught with danger to the court, to each and every citizen, and to the republic."

Justice Jackson said: "Considered in all its bearings, this decision is, in my judgment, the most disastrous blow ever struck at the constitutional power of congress."

Justice Brown said: "As I can not escape the conviction that the decision of the court in this great case is fraught with immeasurable danger to the future of the country, and that it approaches the proportion of a national calamity, I feel it my duty to enter my protest against it."

Justice Harlan was even more severe. "But the serious aspect of the present decision is that, by a new interpretation of the constitution, it so ties the hands of the legislative branch of the government that without an amendment of that instrument, or unless this court, at some future time, should return to the old theory of the constitution, congress can not subject to taxation, however great the needs or pressing necessities of the government, either the invested personal property of the country, bonds, stocks and investments of all kinds, or the income arising from the renting of real estate, or from the yield of personal property, except by the grossly unequal and unjust rule of apportionment among the states. Thus undue and disproportionate burdens are placed upon the many, while the few, safely entrenched behind the rule of apportionment among the states on the basis of numbers, are permitted to evade their share of responsibility for the support of the government ordained for the protection of the rights of all."

"I can not assent to an interpretation of the constitution that impairs and cripples the just powers of the national government in the essential matter of taxation, and at the same time discriminates against the greater part of the people of our country."

"The practical effect of the decision today is to give to certain kinds of property a position of favoritism and advantage inconsistent with the fundamental principles of our social organization, and to invest them with power and influence that may be perilous to that portion of the American people upon whom rests the largest part of the burdens of the government, and who might not be subjected to the dominion or aggregated wealth any more than property of the country should be at the mercy of the lawless."

The decision in the Dred Scott case provoked a storm of hostile criticism.

Abraham Lincoln said at Springfield, Ill., June 26, 1857:

"But we think the Dred Scott decision is erroneous. We know the court that made it has often overruled its own decisions, and we shall do what we can to have it overruled this."

At Chicago, July 10, 1858, he said the decision—

"Is based upon falsehood in the main as to the facts—allegations of facts upon which it stands are not facts at all in many instances."

Further he said: "Somebody has to reverse that decision, since it is made; and we mean to reverse it, and we mean to do it peacefully."

Charles Sumner used language still more violent. He referred to the decision as "this enormity"; he said it "falsified history."

"What," he asked, "is the office of chief justice, if it has been used to betray human rights? The crime is great according to the position of the criminal."

"I speak," he said, "what can not be denied when I declare that the opinion of the chief justice in the case of Dred Scott was more thoroughly abominable than anything of the kind in the history of courts. Then and there judicial baseness reached its lowest point."

In 1829 Mr. Jarvis sent a book to Thomas Jefferson, who wrote a letter acknowledging its receipt, in which he said:

"You seem, in pages 84 and 148, to consider the judges as the ultimate arbiters of all constitutional questions—a very dangerous doctrine indeed, and one which would place us under the despotism of an oligarchy. Our judges are as honest as other men, and not more so. They have, with others, the same passions for party, for power and for the privilege of their corps. Their maxim is 'Boni judices est ampliare jurisdictionem,' and their power is more dangerous as they are in office for life, and not responsible, as the other functionaries are, to the elective control. The constitution has erected no such single tribunal, knowing that, to whatever hands confided, with the corruptions of time and party, its members would become despots. It has more wisely made all the departments coequal and co-sovereign within themselves."

It is not denied that in declaring the income tax law unconstitutional the supreme court disregarded its former decisions for 160 years and that the result was reached by one justice changing his mind between the first decision and the decision on rehearing. Under such circumstances those who criticize the decision are no more entitled to be called anarchists than are the dissenting justices of the supreme court. No, neither Sumner, nor Jefferson, nor Lincoln was an anarchist, nor were the delegates to the Chicago convention anarchists.

Mrs. Ducksley—What business is your husband in?

Mrs. Fastleigh—He manufactures wind instruments.

Mrs. Ducksley—Oh, indeed! Now, that's a chance for my son George. He's wild to get a flute. Do you think he could get one at your husband's factory at cost?

Mrs. Fastleigh—I—I really don't believe he could. You see, the wind instruments my husband makes are bicycle pumps.—Philadelphia Times.

EXCELLENT SHOWING

Made in Secretary Moser's Report for the Past Year

Of the Business of the South Side Building and Loan Association—Election of Officers.

The yearly meeting of the stockholders of the South Side Building and Loan Association was held at the office of the association, Tuesday evening, for the annual election of the board of directors and to hear the report of Jacob Moser, secretary and treasurer of the association.

The report of the year's work was submitted and showed the receipts of the year to be $246,712.26, and disbursements the same. The profits of the association aggregated $40,246.45, which was for dividends, interest and expenses. The total assets of the association at the close of the fiscal year amounted to $558,191.09 and the liabilities the same. In the liabilities there is included the sum of $15,478.02, as a surplus or contingent fund, making the best showing for the business of the association of any year since it was organized.

THE DIRECTORS.

The following board of directors and other officials was elected by the stockholders at this meeting, the entire list being the same as that of the previous year.

Directors—Judge T. D. Robb, F. W. Holmes, F. Thompson, D. S. Cross, E. Christen, I. S. Motter, W. D. Johnson, Peter O. Beck and Henry Tegeder.

Auditors—E. H. Johns, C. F. Metheny and E. D. Povenmire.

Appraiser—Allan Graham, Sr.

The board of directors will meet next Monday evening to organize by electing a president, vice president, solicitor and secretary-treasurer for the association.

TO-MORROW

The Funeral Services of Nicholas Pfeifer Will Be Held.

The funeral services of Nicholas Pfeifer, the prominent farmer whose death was announced in the TIMES-DEMOCRAT yesterday, will be held from the residence, five miles north-west of this city, at 10 o'clock (sun time) to-morrow morning.

The deceased leaves a widow, a son and a daughter. Four brothers and five sisters also survive him. Three of the brothers reside at West Bay City, Mich., and the other lives at Elida, this county. Mrs. Amos Young, of this city, is one of the deceased's sisters, and two others reside in this county. One of the remaining two lives in Kansas and the other lives in Trumbull county, Ohio.

HERE'S AN ARGUMENT.

A dispatch from Wheeling, W. Va., says: Operators in southern fields are confidently expecting an advance in the price of oil at an early date. One well informed operator said: "You know the Standard Oil Company for years has been supplying the European market with the low grade oils from Ohio and Indiana, there being no legal fire tests to comply with there, while in this country nearly every state compels the sellers of oil to make their produce stand a certain safety test. Recently the European press, especially the London papers, have created a strong sentiment against the practice of the Standard, which the press claims is little better than murderers, and responsible for many fires and explosions caused by low grade oils. The legislative bodies of the various foreign countries will probably enact laws during the winter regulating these practices, and in consequence the price of West Virginia and Pennsylvania oil will advance."

NOTES.

The well drilled in on the Bowsher farm in the Hume field, by Ohler, Melly and Germann, was shot yesterday and put to pumping. After the salt water had been exhausted it started off at about the rate of 150 barrels. The owners have 200 acres in the tract in which this well was drilled, and will immediately start two more.

THE JERSEY LILY.

Within Five Years of the Half-Century
Mark.

Mrs. Langtry is now within five years of the half-century mark, but she remains really as vigorous a figure today as she was 50 years ago. With the final abandonment of her stage career,
her reported marriage, the sale of her yacht and the later insanity of her husband, she keeps in the public eye with as much persistency as though she employed an indefatigable press agent.

One local reminder of her New York
career came to light recently when it was announced that the house she occupied for several years in New York was

Mrs. Langtry.

to let again, the lease which was originally taken for her having only just expired. The house, which is one of a kind rare now in New York, has been unoccupied for many years. The sign hangs on the high fence which Mrs.
Langtry, for reasons of her own, had built about the house at an expense considerably greater than she expected. In the struggle which she had with the city authorities to establish her right to keep the fence where it was built her lawyers are said to have received $9,000 for their services. She paid the money cheerfully and her expenditures
were never stinted.

At one time she made a great deal of money from her appearances as an actress, and even on her last visit to America, to everybody's astonishment, she was nearly as successful as she had ever been. Although she spent money freely she was a good business woman, and that was shown by a remark she made once when the question of engaging an actor came up. He asked more for his services than her manager thought he was worth.

"Oh, pay him what he asks!" Mrs.
Langtry said indifferently. "He's a nice fellow and he plays piquet so badly
that I'm certain to get most of it back."

FIRST WOMAN ELECTED.

Mrs. Elizabeth M. Reed, formerly of the Royal Asiatic Society.

Mrs. Elizabeth M. Reed, formerly of Boston, but now a resident of Chicago,
the honor of being the first and only woman elected to membership in the Royal Asiatic Society of London.

A paper by Mrs. Reed was read at a recent meeting of the Victoria Institute and was declared to be the feature of that meeting of English savants. Its title was "The Ethics of Buddhism."

Where Did Derivatives From Semite Sonnets? The author presented many interesting facts, showing it was possible that some of the sentiments of Buddism had been derived from the earlier writings of the Hebrews, or from some people who were familiar with those writings. In the absence of the author
the paper was read by Dr. Theo. G.
Pinches of the British Museum.

It was the first time in the history of this august body that the work of a woman had been thus honored. Mrs.
Reed only gained entry to it after passing a long and trying gauntlet.

Northwestern university have conferred upon her the degree of master of arts,

Brain Cells in the Fingers.

A medical man recently assisted in an autopsy on a person blind from birth, and he sought to discover by scalpel and microscope the secret of the extraordinarily delicate touch the blind man had acquired during life. Sections perhaps a sixteenth of an inch thick were carefully sliced off the inner surfaces of the index and middle fingers of the right hand. Under a high power these showed instead of a single nerve trunk and artery and vein of the average man a most complex and delicate ramification
of nerve filaments, dainty and minute
nerve twigs in immense numbers
branching from the main system.
Through constant use the finger tips of the blind acquire this unusual development, with more and more perfect performance of function.—Chicago Record

Buried Money to Avoid Alimony.

Conrad May, a man who figures here in a divorce suit, acknowledged in court that he had buried $15,000 on his farm in Wisconsin to save himself from paying alimony to his wife. He refused to say where it was buried, but yesterday
it was discovered by a farmer who was hunting squirrels. He was crossing May's land when his dog ran a gopher into its hole. The farmer began to dig for the gopher and was astonished to come across a number of shot sacks containing gold, silver and paper. It was, in fact, May's buried treasure. May heard of the find and claimed the money, which was paid over to him by the finder, in all over $15,000.—St. Louis

YAWN AND LAUGH OFTEN.

Scientists Declare That Both Are Highly Beneficial.

It is not so very long ago since a foreign scientist discoursed on the benefits of yawning. This act, which is generally regarded as partaking of the nature of a tired condition, or symptom of such a condition, of the respiration and of the need for fresh air is said to be of great service in clearing the custodian tubes of the ears. These tubes lead from the back of the mouth to the inner side of the ear drum, and a yawning is looked upon in this light as a hygienic exercise which benefits the structures in question.

Another scientist has no difficulty in showing that when we laugh we increase the play of tension in our lungs.
One result of this increased tension is to arrest the blood flow in the lungs and to induce the taking of deep inspirations. These latter are healthful things, for many parts of our lungs are not called into active use in ordinary breathing. The apex, or top of the lung, is notably a part which does not actively participate in the movements of breathing, and as this is the special seat of consumption attack we may reasonably hold that the law of disuse explains the greater liability of this portion of the organ to the onset of disease. The free and active use of a part, strengthening and toning it, as it were,
is an essential condition for health;
hence laughter, by bringing into play
the whole of the lungs, or at least by favoring an increase of lung work, is to be reckoned an admirable exercise.

Besides this physical effect of laughter we have also to take into account its mental side. There is a certain brain stimulus to be noted, a psychic result, in addition to the physical effect, and it is pretty certain the mental phase of a good, hearty laugh is, in its way, as healthful as its physical aspect. Singing is also praised as an excellent lung exercise, and public speaking is as effective a lung tonic as one may wish for. The only drawback to the work of the speaker is the foul condition of the atmosphere in which he has often to do his work.—Exchange.

OUR CAVALRYMEN BEST.

French Horses, However, Are Superior to Those Used Here.

The French horseman does not ride
as well as in the past, as in the United States regular army, but the horses of the French army are better and more serviceable than those in the United States. The half bred Arabs of the class used as to any amount of work, and the heavier Normans and Bretons
of the dragons and cuirassiers, although perhaps too light for the weight they carry, are splendid specimens of horse-flesh. The French artillery—believed elsewhere than in France to be the corps
d'élite of the army—was beyond praise.
The physique of the personnel of the field and horse batteries is superior to that of the line, and the average efficiency of the officers is higher. The steel gun that is armed with a most effective weapon—the fieldpiece of 9 mm., weighing 10.43 hundred-weight, and firing a 17.95 pound common shell, 18.5 pound shrapnel; the horse artillery gun weighing 8.36 hun-dredweight, with a 18.15 pound common shell and a 18.84 shrapnel.

The large number of batteries attached to an army corps—more than four guns to 1,000 infantry and cavalry—is not the only indication that the French place great reliance upon their artillery. The batteries as they marched past presented an admirable appearance. The old maxim of "spit and polish" was not as minutely carried out as in the case with the batteries of the United States regular army. The steel hames and collar chains were in some instances not as bright as they might have been, nor were the leather harnesses absolutely immaculate, and everything pertaining to each piece and each caisson is thoroughly serviceable and businesslike.—New

WRECKED ON A ROCK.

Part of a shipwrecked crew belonging to the steamship Enigma, which went on the rocks and was shattered to pieces by an angry sea near Great Island, just off the coast of Newfoundland, on Sept. 17, was landed in New York recently. The vessel was with Captain Hansen, the first and third mates, the boatswain and one seaman.
The captain's wife also was in the party. Nineteen other members of the crew had been shipped to their homes in England.

"We struck a rock hard on," said
the captain, "during a fog on the night of Sept. 17, beating a fog horn in our port bow. We were just off Great Island and quite close to the shore. Our vessel began to fill quickly. In half an hour
the water was washing over the taffrail.
A tremendous sea was running. We launched lifeboats, but they were smashed against the ship's side one by one."

"There was a little ledge on the island, about 40 feet away. We lashed ladders together until they reached the spot. Then, on our hands and knees, with the sea washing over us, we crawled over to the shore. Towering above us was a rocky cliff 200 feet high. Our position was not safe, and our only hope was to reach the top of the cliff.
We placed the ladder against the rocks,
but it fell far short. One of my men, at the risk of his life, finally succeeded in dragging himself to the summit."

"There he tore some of his clothing into pieces, knotted them together, and by this means we got a rope to him.
One by one we climbed to the top rung of the ladder, from which point we were hoisted, with the rope around our wrists, to the surface of the cliff."

"There was not a human being on the island, which was overrun with rabbits and birds. Some of my men had escaped with hardly any clothing. They were dejected to the skin and suffered greatly during the night from the cold."

"The next day, the sea having moderated, fishermen came to our assistance.
They took all but four of us away. The mate and three seamen remained on the barren island to watch the vessel in the hopes that she might be saved, but in two days she was pounded to pieces.

them a week. They were mighty glad

M. Roche perceived that a similar process would take place on the surface of a hollow metal statue filled with freezing fluids. In this way some very beautiful effects might be obtained.

He went to work, and the first important piece which he executed was a large figure of a bear upholding the Russian arms. He devised a chemical process which worked to perfection.
The statue went on accumulating snow as long as the internal freezing was kept up. It seemed to have an unlimited power of gathering humidity from the atmosphere and turning it into snow.

The statue is of copper, which is a good conductor of temperature and does not become greatly misshapen when subjected to cold. In the base is a reservoir of liquefied carbonic acid. It has a faucet so arranged that when it is opened a stream of liquid is thrown into the interior of the statue, producing a high degree of cold. The snow begins to form in the course of a few minutes.
It is preserved by maintaining a slight

Remo, Liable Pecan Tree.

There is a pecan tree on the plantation of the widow James, five miles from Waycross, Ga., that is a peculiar freak. It was twice struck by lightning last year, but is still living and thriving. The last time the tree was struck a bolt of lightning ran down the corner of a smokehouse near by and smashed up various things inside of the building, leaving an old sitting hen undisturbed in one corner. It then struck the clothes wire and followed it across the yard to the corner of the townhouse, where it came near killing the entire
lot. The clothes wire was melted from end to end. The tree, not to be outdone, took on new life and is bearing some very fine pecans this year.—Atlanta

THE VISITORS

Tendered a Delightful Dance Last Night.

THE Y. M. C. A. RECEPTION

Given in Honor of Secretary Pawley and Wife—A Delightful Evening With the Harmonic Club at its First Meeting for the Season.

Lima's gallant young men were out in full force last night to do honor to a bevy of charming young women who are visiting in our city. During their stay many affairs have been given for them, but this dancing party was the crowning feature. There were nine visiting ladies, who were as follows:

Miss Patrick, of Chicago, who wore a beautiful toilet, a study in yellow, of soft silk with accordion pleated chiton; Miss Hall, of Brazil, a handsome black evening gown; Miss Lee, of Litchfield, Ill., wore a pretty flowered organdie; Miss Leete, a bud, a black skirt and simple pink waist; Miss McCauley, of Detroit, black striped gauze over heliotrope silk; Miss Dickinson, of Toledo, wore a pretty gown of white mull, with fly-away bows of yellow velvet; Miss Moore, of Brazil, wore a quaint little frock of old blue and rose-striped organdie with rare lace borders and pearl and silver trimmings; Miss Clyde, of Troy, wore an artistic combination of pink and white, trimmed with tiny ruffles, edged with white; Miss Beasie McCauley, a pretty pink organdie over pink silk. The home ladies in attendance were chaperoned by Mrs. H. M. Moulton, who wore a pretty dress of figured organdie; Miss Bryan wore an all black toilette very becoming to her; Miss Margaret Holdridge was dressed in a dainty frock of blue and white with blue ribbons; Miss Thomas wore a stylish white skirt with blue jacket; Miss Reichelderfer was in a simple muslin gown with carmine ribbons; Miss Lillian Kline wore a red and black gown; Miss Emma Jones wore a cool looking white gown; Helen Leete wore a becoming toilette of black; Miss Vail wore a black skirt with lavender waist; Miss Numan wore a pretty figured organdie; Miss Martha Agter wore a pretty pink and white combination; Miss Edna Burton was daintily attired in a flowered dimity; Miss Hutchinson wore a green silk; Miss Lulu Williams wore a neat organdie dress with green ribbons; Miss Blanche Marmon wore an exquisite blue silk muslin trimmed with tiny Van Dyke ruffles; Miss Mame Freeman wore an all black gown; Miss Inez Lowe was in a simple muslin dress with pink ribbons; Miss Carrie Cross wore pink and dimity; Miss Wilona Reichelderfer wore flowered organdie with lace trimmings; Miss Sallie Cross wore white mull with apple green trimmings; Miss Laura Reynolds wore black skirt with pretty pink waist; Miss Ethel Rockhill wore a simple organdie with lace trimmings.

Frey's orchestra of five pieces made good music for all the numbers, which were enjoyed until midnight.

A CHARMING RECEPTION.

Last evening a reception was given at the Y. M. C. A. to the new secretary and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Pawley. Those assisting in receiving all with a cheery welcome were: Mr. Frank Holmes, president of Y. M. C. A., and Mrs. Jane Holmes, Mrs. Van Cleave, president of Ladies' Auxiliary; Mrs. Walter Standish, Mrs. F. G. Borges, Mrs. W. A. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. I. S. Motter, Mrs. Charles Mann. The receiving party was stationed in the lower parlors, which were filled with palms and ivy in each nook and corner. After chatting with incoming friends a few minutes the throng of guests passed upstairs, where they found Mrs. Frank Bell presiding over a bowl of sparkling frappe which was offered to each thirsty caller by these pretty buds, who were in dainty summer dresses: Lena Sanford, Laura Borges, Sabine Carnes and Louise Lowe. Then came the good musical programme in the auditorium, which was made to look like a bit of autumn with the many branches of gaily colored leaves and festoons of brightly tinted woodbine.

THE HARMONIC CLUB.

The home of the Misses Holland, on west High street, was filled last evening with the members of the Harmonic Club and their guests, being a little party of about forty music lovers. The following four choice numbers delighted everyone with their melody: Silver Crown Overture, Driving Club March, Spanish Serenade, Aquilena Waltzes. Delicious refreshment served to make the evening more enjoyable, and the social part of the evening was a decided success.

DIVORCE DENIED

James F. H. Jessop To-day by the Probate Court.

THE PETITION DISMISSED

At the Cost of the Plaintiff—The Columbia Sold at Private Sale to a North Baltimore Merchant—Court House Notes.

James F. H. Jessop the fourth of last May entered suit against his wife, Sarah W. Jessop, for a divorce. He alleged in his petition that his wife had been willfully absent from him for more than three years and had wholly disregarded all her marital duties.

To the petition the defendant filed a cross petition denying that she had been willfully absent from her husband, but alleged that her husband had abandoned her in October, 1891, and has since willfully neglected to provide for her.

The case came up for hearing to-day before Judge Robb and after being heard, on the pleadings and the evidence, the court found that the defendant had not been guilty of willful absence, as charged by the plaintiff. The court therefore ordered the petition dismissed at the cost of the plaintiff. The court further found that as the plaintiff had no property the defendant was not entitled to a decree for alimony in addition to the allowance previously made by the court during the time the suit was pending.

THE COLUMBIA SOLD.

Gus Kalb, the receiver of Mr. Jacobson, the proprietor of the Columbia shoe store, was granted authority to-day by the probate court to sell at private sale the entire boot and shoe stock, the store furniture and Mr. Jacobson's horse and buggy, to Mr. Nertzorg, of North Baltimore, who owns boot and shoe stores at North Baltimore and St. Marys. The appraised value of the stock was $11,162.89; furniture and fixtures, $405.50; horse and buggy $300. Total, $11,868.39. The goods and property were sold at 70 per cent of their appraised value and brought $8,307.87 in cash. Mr. Kalb settles the accounts held against Mr. Jacobson, the proprietor of the Columbia shoe store, at 50 cts on the dollar.

DAMAGES AND COMPENSATION.

The condemnation suit against the Detroit & Lima Northern Railway, brought by Randolph Gregg, ended yesterday. The plaintiff claimed that his property, located on Sugar street, was damaged by the D. & L. N. appropriating Sugar street. The case occupied the greater part of three days. The jury's verdict was for $33 compensation and $335 for damages.

FOR TRUANCY.

Thomas and Eddie Muller, aged 8 and 16 years respectively, were yesterday brought before Judge Robb, by officer Povemire, on a charge of truancy. Their mother, Mrs. Mary Muller, was notified that the boys must be kept in school or the state would take them in charge. The older one of the two boys was brought before the judge once before on a similar charge.

HUSBAND HAS A GRIEVANCE.

W. A. Owen has filed a petition in the probate office for a divorce from his wife, Ada Owen. The petition alleges gross neglect of duty and willful absence on the part of the wife.

C. H. Folsom has filed application for letters of administration in the estate of Nancy J. Collins, deceased.

Bad Brick in the Pavement Now Being Chalked by

THE VETERAN BRICKMAKER.

Continual Complaints from Citizens Result in the Removal from the Work of One of the Engineer's Assistants.

If all the street paving improvements occasion as much general dissatisfaction and universal complaint as the north Main street work, which is now under way, the city will do herself moral credit by following the advice of Rev. R. J. Thomson, who, in a recent sermon on the sanitation of this municipality, argued that the city would better do no street paving for twenty years, but use the money that is being expended in that line of improvement to provide the city with a proper and greatly needed hygienic sewerage system.

Last evening, about 4:30 o'clock, after another day's wrangling and jangling with complaints on one hand and criticisms from nearly every citizen who stopped to view the work, on the other, the paving committee ordered Walter Toy, the draftsman from the engineer's office whom the latter had placed on the pavement with a piece of chalk to mark brick that in his judgment should be turned over or replaced by another, to leave the work at once. The engineer didn't want the contractor to begin applying the filler, which was heated and ready, unless the council would first accept the brick that had been laid. The brick, no matter how poor they may or may not be, have—that is, the samples that were taken from the street—stood the tests in accordance with the engineer's specifications and as the material had been adopted for the improvement nothing could be done, the councilmen decided, but accept the brick. Contractor Wildes didn't care how many bricks were rejected or thrown out, because he pays only for those in the improvement, but he did object to so much interference after he had given bond for the faithful fulfillment of his contract.

Last night the paving committee met and decided to engage Adam Simons, the veteran brick maker, to inspect the material that had been laid, and Mr. Simons consented to serve. To-day there has been plenty of criticism concerning the quality of the paving material, but the work has proceeded with less interference and angry words.

BACK TO NEWPORT

John F. Moore is Taken by Sheriff Plummer to Answer

FOR A HEINOUS CRIME.

Sheriff Plummer Identifies the Person Arrested by Sheriff Fisher—Moore's Sister Advises Him to Say Nothing.

John F. Moore, alias John Brown, who was arrested Tuesday night at Williams' Hotel by sheriff Fisher for being one of the eleven toughs who criminally assaulted Mrs. Thomas Gleason at Newport, Ky., about a week ago, was taken to Newport, Ky., this morning at half-past five o'clock on the O. & N. D. by sheriff Plummer. He was taken back to the place where the dastardly crime was committed and he will be tried for a crime the penalty of which is death.

Sheriff Plummer, together with a Mr. Marshall, a newspaper man of Newport, arrived in the city last night at 9:15 o'clock. He was met at the depot by sheriff Fisher. The two gentlemen went to the K. of P. hall and remained there until after the meeting. Mr. Plummer was an interesting visitor and entertained the K. of P. boys for some time relating his experiences in the late Pearl Bryan murder case. It was about 11 o'clock when the sheriff and Mr. Marshall visited the county jail. The corridors of the jail were entered and Moore, the prisoner, was found asleep on the cot in his cell. He was at once recognized as the man wanted. With some difficulty he was aroused from his slumbers and he recognized the Kentucky sheriff. When asked why he had left Newport, he answered that he was afraid of being lynched as the general feeling was so intense against the ones accused.

The prisoner was very reluctant about talking of the crime and was very careful as to what he said. The sheriff told him that he should go to sleep again and that they would leave for Covington early this morning. The prisoner consented to return to Kentucky without requisition papers. Yesterday a letter was given to sheriff Fisher, the address on which was John Black, care of the Williams hotel. The letter was from Moore's sister, who lives in Cincinnati, and as the sheriff has the right to open a prisoner's letter he opened this one. Moore's sister, in the letter, urged that he remain away from Cincinnati, and advised him that should he be arrested to refrain from talking concerning the crime and that he should refuse to answer any questions asked him about the case.

Sheriff Plummer is a congenial gentleman and an interesting person to converse with. He and sheriff Fisher and other friends, after leaving the jail about midday, entertained themselves until time for the south bound O. & N. D. train when the prisoner was taken to the train to be returned to have his innocence or guilt proven before a competent jury.

EXHIBITION AT NEWPORT.

Yesterday was another exciting day in Newport, says the Enquirer, made so by the return of the men who are charged with criminally assaulting Mrs. Thomas Gleason. The streets were crowded with people who wanted a glance at the now noted prisoners. The men were brought back in order to admit of their identification before the grand jury by Mrs. Gleason, as she did not know any of the prisoners. The officers and men in their charge left Mayville at 4:10 a. m. on the F. & W. train on the O. & N. and arrived in Newport shortly after 5 o'clock. A large crowd was at the depot on Monmouth street when the train pulled in, but the officers hustled the men into a waiting omnibus and in a few minutes they were again back in the Newport jail.

The main topic of conversation on the trip down was the remarkably good fare served by J. Miller Johnson at the Mayville hotel.

The men had no sooner been brought to the Newport jail than a vast crowd of curious sightseers swarmed around the structure, and the police were compelled to clear the square. There was another stir when the news of John Moore's arrest at Lima, Ohio, was received from sheriff Fisher, of that place. Sheriff Plummer left at noon for that place, though it is not yet known whether or not Moore will return without requisition papers.
